PROTOCOL FOR APPROVING BEHAVIOR INTERVENTION TRAINING FOR RESIDENTIAL CHILD CARE PROGRAMS

1. The purpose of the review is to determine the training program's conformity to the State's philosophy for behavior management and crisis intervention and to relevant COMAR regulations for use in residential care programs.
2. The application for the approval of behavioral intervention and crisis management training will also be posted on the GOC website.
3. Training programs will be instructed to submit applications to the Chief, Interagency Initiatives at GOC.
4. The Resource Development and Licensing Committee (RDLC) will designate a subcommittee consisting of representatives from all licensing agencies to review the applications.
5. The review committee will review applications quarterly. All applications must be received 30 days prior to the quarterly review in order to be considered for that meeting. The quarterly reviews will take place in January, April, July, and October. Please see the GOC website for actual submission and meeting dates.
6. If the review panel determines that the application does not meet the standards required by COMAR 14.31.06.15, GOC must notify the vendor in writing, within 10 business days, of the deficiencies and the process for resubmission and/or appeal.
7. If the review panel does not approve the written documents, the vendor may revise them if necessary and resubmit.
8. If the written documents are not approved on the second review, the vendor may request an interview with the review panel during the next quarterly review meeting.
9. If the review panel determines that the interview and demonstration has not adequately addressed the previous questions and/or concerns, GOC must notify the vendor in writing, within 10 business days, of the deficiencies and the process for resubmission.
10. If the written application meets the approval of the review committee, the training vendor will be required to meet with the committee and provide a demonstration of all physical techniques during the next quarterly review meeting.
11. If the review committee approves the training program, a recommendation for approval will be forwarded to the Children's Cabinet Results Team, with final approval by the Children's Cabinet.
12. A list of approved training vendors will be posted on the GOC website.
